VALPARAISO AMUSEMENT.

Sunday is the Great Gala Day For Rich and Poor Alike.
All around the edge of Valparaiso bay is a string of little towns so close together that you cannot readily discover where one leaves off and the next begins. The most pretentious of these is Vina del Mar, which is a very popular seaside resort. During the summer season, from December to February, it is a gay place. A short distance from the town is the "cancha," or race track, in connection with which are golf links, cricket and polo grounds, all managed by the English sporting clubs. The polo matches and the races are over by the 1st of December, but cricket, golf and tennis go on all summer. Tennis tournaments are held, lasting for several weeks. Most of these sports, with the exception of tennis, which goes on all the time, take place on Sunday. Sunday is the great gala day, when all the population, rich and poor alike, turn out to have a good time.

The common people find their holiday sport in getting gloriously drunk.
If you walk along the street on Sunday afternoon, you must be surprised to meet every few minutes individuals decidedly unsteady on their feet. The little winoshop does a rushing business, and there is always a large crowd about the door watching and loudly applauding the dancing of the "cucua," which goes on all day.
This is a sort of national dance, performed to the accompaniment of the guitar. The dance is quaint and rather pretty if the dancers are sober, but in its ordinary environment it is far from lively.
During a good season at Vina del Mar one has an excellent opportunity of seeing the aristocratic Chileans of Santiago. In January Santiago is very warm, and the society people come down to the coast during the hot weather. The ladies are many of them quite handsome. They all dress gorgeously and have very bad manners. They stroll along the hotel plaza, and if they see anything that arouses their curiosity in any of the rooms they stop and look on serenely, regardless of the occupant. They never make their appearance until 10 or 11 o'clock in the morning, when they go down to the beach for a morning dip. After the 11 o'clock breakfast they disappear until 4 o'clock, when they all come out in gowns that would rival Solomon in all his glory.
They either drive on the beach and trail their skirts and embroidered chiffons through the sand or stroll up and down the long platform of the railroad station, watching the trains pass.
These exciting diversions occupy them until dinner. Sometimes there are dances in the evening—dances called so only by courtesy, for they rarely dance; they only walk around and exhibit their gowns.—Indianapolis News.

Druggists Old and New.
Sometimes it seems as if druggists had everything except drugs. The middle aged man or woman remembers when the apothecary shop had a distinctive smell of drugs and chemicals.
Nothing was in sight but jars of wonderfully colored liquids and powders, crystals and sticks and drawers of curious things with Latin labels. The only thing that was at all attractive for the women was the case of fancy soaps and perfumes, with face powders and cosmetics, and for the men the case of cigars. The soda fountain made the first innovation. It was no such pretendous affair as now, but it stood modestly on one end of the counter. There were five or six kinds of syrups and no ice cream or hot drinks. Later candy found a place in the apothecary, the candy stationery, and now there are all sorts of bric-a-brac.—New York Press.

Changed the Text.
"Dr. De Witte during his visit to England in 1870," says the London Chronicle, "had been engaged to preach in a church in one of the large towns of England. On arriving at the building he found it besieged by a throng of from 15,000 to 20,000 people.
Naturally, he expected the place would be crowded inside. Instead of this he was surprised to find it only moderately full.
"Why," he demanded of the pastor,
"don't you let this crowd of people come in?"
"Oh," said he, "each person inside has paid 4 shillings to get in."
"Dr. Talmage had intended to preach from the text, 'Without money and without price.' He changed his subject."

A DROLL CHARACTER

"COUNSELOR" NOLAN WAS A WIT
OF THE NEW YORK BAR.

Some of the Quaint Sayings of This Pictorial Legal Light, Who For Years Kept Gotham's Judges and Lawyers Laughing.

In a book entitled "The Barrister" Charles Frederick Stansbury has brought together the best of the anecdotes of Tom Nolan, who was known popularly among members of the New York bar as "Counselor Nolan." For many years the counselor kept judges and lawyers of New York laughing, and at political conventions he was one of the important, if not serious, attractions. The counselor was himself sui generis. His drollery was individual.
Some characteristic stories from Mr.
Stansbury's collection are here set down:

At a political convention a friend asked Nolan:
"What a strange counselor, that your friend Croker, who is such a mighty power down your way, does not get a nice political job for himself?" The barrister drew himself up, looking his inquisitor over from the corner of his eye, and then replied, with severity: "Tis a peanut brain you have, Clancy, to ask me that. Is there any job he hasn't got?"

Judge Horace Russell told the following story: Nolan once had a client whose name was Mrs. Morlarity. After her case had been placed upon the calendar Mrs. Morlarity appeared every day in Nolan's office with her eleven witnesses. Finally the case reached the top of the calendar, and Nolan was on hand to try it. The opposing counsel asked for a postponement. Nolan fought the postponement with great eloquence, laying much stress upon the fact that Mrs. Morlarity had been put to enormous trouble and expense of coming every day to his office with her eleven witnesses. Judge Dugro, who was sitting, was not convinced apparently by Nolan's fervid oratory and granted the adjournment. Then the barrister arose.

"Your honor," said he, "has seen fit to grant a postponement of the case, and, while I humbly submit to the ruling of the court, yet I would like to ask your honor to do me a personal favor."
"Certainly, counselor, with pleasure," replied Judge Dugro. "What is it?"
"Go you to my office," thundered the barrister, "and inform Mrs. Morlarity that this case has been postponed."

Witty and keen as Nolan was, he once in while got the worst of an encounter with a witness, as the following incident illustrates:
The plaintiff, Mr. Foley, was suing Mr. W. for damages sustained by carelessness of defendant in allowing his donkey to escape from his stable and trespass upon plaintiff's lawn. Foley is in the witness box.

Barrister Nolan (for defendant)—You say that Mr. W.'s animal caused all this injury to your property?

Foley—Yes, your honor.
Barrister—Where did you first see this donkey?

Foley—Tied up in defendant's stable.
Barrister—Where did you next see him?

Foley—On me premises.
Barrister—How do you know it was the same donkey?

Foley (emphatically)—If I saw yez tied up in the stable, don't yez suppose I'd know yez whin yez got loose?

The barrister excused Mr. Foley.
It was in the old superior court before Judge David McAdam and a jury, and the barrister was trying a case on behalf of the plaintiff in a negligence suit against the "Twenty-third street crosswalk railroad, which was controlled by Jacob Sharp, who afterward gave the name of "boodle aldermen" to the world. On rising to sum up on behalf of his client Nolan launched forth into an attack upon Sharp, who had in no manner appeared in the case. Raising his voice to a pitch that could be heard by citizens in the City Hall park, he concluded his peroration as follows:

"And you, gentlemen of the jury, is Jacob Sharp? I will tell you, gentlemen. He is a man so lost to all his sense of ethics and the rights of man that for the sake of paltry prospective dividends he would run a railroad up your spine and make ties out of your ribs!"

When the bar of the city of New York gave a dinner at Delmonico's in honor of former Justice Abraham R.
Lawrence on his retirement from the bench, one of the remarks Nolan made was:

"There's Recorder Smyth. He's a good judge, a fine judge, but he thinks I'vey man ought to go to prison at least twice."

Nolan on one occasion was a candidate for a municipal office, and in the course of his canvass he asked a woman of his acquaintance if she would use her influence in obtaining for him her husband's vote. "Sure, I will," said the woman. "Are we not every-lastingly grateful to you ever since you got my husband off for stealing a gun?"

"No, no, my dear woman," cried the barrister, "not for stealing a gun, but for the alleged stealing of a gun."

"Alleged be bothered," replied the woman. "Come up stairs and I'll show you the gun."

Once arguing a case in behalf of clients who were sailors and while in the midst of an exhaustive display of nautical scholarship Nolan was interrupted by the court:

"How comes it, counselor, that you possess such a vast knowledge of the sea?"
"Does your honor think," responded Nolan, "that I came over in a back?"

LOST OPPORTUNITIES.

Don't Waste Your Youth; Use It In Getting an Education.

How the handicapped millionaire envies boys in school or college and would give half his wealth for the chance to lay a foundation which they are thinking of spinning! How many an embarrassed man in public life longs to relive boyhood that he may correct the mistakes of his youth! How much more he could make of his life, of his position, if he had cultivated his mind when young! He does everything at a disadvantage. His grasp of documents, speeches and books is weak because he does not know how to study. He must employ a literary secretary to save himself from blunders of grammar, errors in history and biography or in political economy. He is forced to petty expedients to hide his ignorance.

Oh, what a pity it is to see splendid ability made to do the work of mediocrity! A man of magnificent parts, feeling that he is by nature intended to shine as a leader, is pitiable when compelled to do the work of an inferior and plod along in hopeless obscurity.
The eager unrest of youth that chafes at restraining school walls and longs to rush to action makes havoc with coun-less careers. In after days the old porter will ring mockingly in memory:

He that will not when he may When he would he shall have nay.

What are investments in bonds and stocks, in houses and lands, compared with investment in an education, in a broad, deep culture which will enrich the life and be a perpetual blessing to one's friends?

To rob oneself of the means of enjoyment which education and culture give has no compensation in mere money wealth. No material prosperity can compare with a rich mind. It is a perpetual wellspring of satisfaction, of enterprise. It enables one to bear up under misfortune, to be cheerful under discouragements, trials and tribulations which overwhelm a shallow mind and an empty heart.—Success.

POULTRY POINTERS.
Fowls will not thrive with close penning or crowding.
About one foot of space on the roost should be allowed for each adult fowl.
A handsome appearance is worth 1 or 2 cents a pound on poultry in selling.
Calcereous matter for shells and gravel to aid trituration in the gizzard are indispensable.
Ground or crushed bone is so valuable for their health that it should always be kept before them.
The morning meal may be made more palatable and stimulating by adding cut onions with salt and pepper.
Carelessness in the little details necessary to good management will soon show in the condition of the fowls.
Clean, pleasant and suitable quarters, with wholesome, nutritious food, have much to do in determining the flavor and quality of both the eggs and the flesh of fowls.
A good way to tell a fresh egg is by the air bubble in the large end. The smaller the air bubble the fresher the egg. A fresh egg must be examined closely to see the air bubble.

"No Interference."
There is one thing anarchists will not consent to, one thing they rebel against (at least in thought, and sometimes in act), and that is anybody's assumption to rule another, whether it be czar, nobility or a democratic majority.
Says William M. Salter in The Atlantic.
They are disagreed about many things.
There are individualist anarchists, believers in private property and believers in common property, but all alike believe in self rule, and they are as much opposed to democratic state socialism as to state socialism of any kind. They believe that power intoxicates the best of men and are not willing to allow it in any form. "No master, high or low," they say, after William Morris. "Let life shape itself." "Mind your own business." "No interference"—such is their demand.

The Great Value of Saving Time.
Thrift of time is as necessary as thrift of money, and he who knows how to save time has learned the secret of accumulating educational opportunity. Men who regard it as sinful to waste time, who waste time with a prodigal's lavishness because they do not understand the value of short periods of time. Society is full of people who might enrich themselves a hundredfold and make their lives immensely more interesting if they learned this commonplace truth.—Ladies' Home Journal.

The Word Treacle.
The word treacle has undergone an odd modification. At first it was applied to such decoctions of roots or other substances as were deemed beneficial in medical practice; then, as these were frequently sweetened, it came to mean any sweet confection or confection, and lastly, as molasses was the sweetest of all, this name was exclusively applied to sirup.

BELLES OF OLD ROME

THE TIME AND MONEY THAT WERE SPENT ON THEIR TOILETS.

Modern Methods and Cost of Beauty Culture Are Simple Compared With Ancient Luxuriousness—Hygiene the Latter Day Magic.

The secret of eternal youth, so eagerly sought by the magicians of all centuries and sought in vain, has almost revealed itself to the present generation; at least we have its watchword, which is hygiene. For youth means beauty, and beauty means health, and the skillful beauty specialists accomplish all their successes by means of rational methods based on a careful study of the causes that may affect its detriment the health of the skin.

In the dim back ages of the world of civilization beauty was made a cult of the utmost moment, but for many a century after the downfall of the Greek and Roman empires such matters were allowed to languish. Not until the declining years of the nineteenth century was the subject reinstated as one of paramount interest. But today beauty specialists abound—some for face treatment, others for manicure and again many more for electrolysis.

Of course these treatments are expensive, but it is worth much to a woman to be rid of careworn expression. Moreover, to feel that her youth and therefore her beauty is somewhat restored has a beneficial influence upon her mental state.

But whoever fancies that the modern husband is to be pitted for the cost of his wife's beauty preservatives should consider the toilet expenses of a Roman lady in the comparatively early days of the world's history. Excessive as may appear the time and money spent now upon the art of beauty cultivation, the grooming of a modern woman of fashion seems invested with an admirable simplicity compared with the time and money thus expended in the days of Poppa and Agrippina.

In the early days of Rome three classes of slaves assisted at the toilet of a lady of fashion. On leaving her bed, which was usually at noon, she immediately went to her bath, where she was carefully rubbed with pumice stone. She then put herself in the hands of the cosmetes, a class of slaves who possessed many secrets for preserving and beautifying the complexion; therefore their position was considered of the greatest importance, especially as they claimed for their arts hygienic advantages.

By the cosmetes her face was thoroughly sponged with asses' milk, then massaged with various mixtures corresponding in intention to the "skin food" of these days; with ashes of snails and of large ants, bruised and burned in salt; with honey in which the bees had been smothered; with the fat of a pul-lared with onion-oil, shades of Arabian, and, lastly, the fat of a swan was vigorously applied, to which was attributed the property of removing wrinkles. Red spots were effaced with a piece of woolen cloth steeped in oil of roses, and freckles were treated with a scraping of sheepskin mixed with oil of Corsica, to which was added the powder of frankincense.

Then appeared the second class of slaves, armed with pinchers and porcupine quills. One of them extracted every hair, however minute, from the forehead of her mistress, and another cleaned the teeth with grated pumice stone, with marble dust and finally with a toothpick of porcupine quill.

A third class of slaves, who were Grecian, colored eyebrows, eyelashes and hair to the shade of "my lady's" taste.
Her lips were treated with red pomade, but if chapped they were first rubbed with the inside of a sheepskin, then covered with the ashes of a burnt mouse mixed with fennel roots.

The last touches of the toilet were given by the favorite attendant, the slave kept by every patrician Roman woman for the sole purpose of applying fragrant unguents. Each part of the body had its own unguent—the hair had sweet marjoram, the neck and knees wild thyme, the arms balsam, the cheeks and breast palm oil, the feet and legs saffron. Then after a final sprinkling of Indian perfumes on hair and dress the favored slave in order that the finished work might be appreciated handed to her mistress a mirror.

It was not of silver—those were so common that were used only by slaves—but a costly robe of gold or purple with precious stones, held by a handle of mother of pearl, the mirror itself formed of a composite of several metals so exquisitely polished as to be not inferior to glass, which was then unknown.

Ah, the modern husband may be congratulated that his lines were not cast in the days of Brutus and Cato of Utica!—Washington Star.

Concentration.
"Don't put all your eggs in one basket" is all very well, I tell you. Put your eggs in one basket and watch that basket!" It is easy to watch and carry the one basket. It is trying to carry too many baskets that breaks most eggs in this country. He who carries three baskets must put one on his head, which is apt to tumble and trip him up.—Carnegie's "Empire of Business."

They Generally Stick.
Hewitt—Gruet has filed that Boston girl.
Jewett—It didn't think he could do it.
Hewitt—Why not?
Jewett—It isn't easy to get rid of a cold.—New York Times.

The Milk.
"Is this milk sterilized?" asked the cranky husband.
"No," replied his wife, "but it's water cured."—Boston Post.

LETTER FROM ALASKA.

PORCUPINE, ALASKA, June 6.
Dear Ledger:—
From Jackson to Porcupine seems a long way, but the distance appears less when viewed from the other end of the route. We sailed from San Francisco on the S. S. J. S.
Kimball at 8 p. m., May 20th, and after a pleasant trip, barring a little seasickness, reached Seattle at 6 on the evening of the 24th. In 3 hours we were on board the Humboldt, and again steaming northward. The trip was a repetition of the one 2 years ago except that the ship was more crowded, many passengers sleeping on the floor and tables of the dining hall. Our rooms were reserved, however, so we had no discomfort, and landed at Haines on the evening of the 28th. The next morning we went to the canoe landing on Pyramid Harbor, but the Indians had miscalculated the tide, and it was 4 in the afternoon before we could start. Our canoe was nearly 40 feet long, and carried 3000 pounds of freight, 6 passengers, and was manned by 4 Indians, 1 to steer, 1 to pilot, 1 to tend sail and 1 to bail.
It had 2 masts, each carrying a sail 15 by 20 feet. A strong south wind carried us swiftly up the mouth of the Chilkat, but we stopped at the "hoolican grounds," as the place is called where these fish are caught.
About 400 Indians from Klukwan are camped here in tents, securing one of their most important articles of food. The hoolicans are about the size and shape of small snails, with a rather insipid taste, but very oily.
They are caught with scoop nets, which the Indians use with great

The funeral of Walter Williams, who killed in the east shaft of the Kan mine last week, took place in Jackson on Sunday afternoon. Deceased had relatives in Michigan, who were communicated with, and who expressed the wish to have the body shipped to them. This would entail expense of fully $300, and the raising of such an amount being deemed practicable, the remains were interred in Jackson as above stated, the ceremonies being conducted under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias and resters, with which orders deceased belonged.

D. W. Cowles and William Fleming Jackson yesterday morning to return to their eastern homes. They are highly pleased with the outcome their trip to California. They came prepared to bid up to $50,000 for the ore mining property. This was their limit. The price at which it was locked down was $20,250 over this sum. Holding a half interest therein themselves, they went away congratulating themselves in having made $30,000 each as the result of their visit.

Silver lake is still inaccessible to travel over the wagon road. This is the reason why those who have been gaged to work on the dams at Blue lakes have repaired thither by way of Iron. They were unable to reach their destination from the west side of the summit. A number of employees at the river are reported to have gone Blue lakes by trail, but the trip over snow is an exceedingly arduous one. It is still said that when the road is fully open the traffic will be through Jackson.

The well-known fruit orchard of ery Griffin, near Pine Grove, is offered for sale in another column. This is conceded to be the best kept and most profitable garden in this section. The crop this year is looking very promising—more than for several years past. For full particulars apply to the proprietor on the premises. The property will be the fullest investigation.

A few of the business men in the city part of the week talked of trying to get up some attraction on a small scale in Jackson for the coming 4th of July, in view of the fact that the day was likely to go by without any public recognition within the confines of Amador county. A meeting was to have been held last Wednesday evening, the attendance, however, was so small, and so little encouragement given the project, that the matter has been dropped for good. Some thought it might interfere with the big celebration on the 9th of September, and hence were indisposed to take hold. The proposed celebration by the athletic club fell through on account of being unable to make satisfactory arrangements.

He has wonderfully improved; in fact, his health is fully re-established. His friends are surprised as well as pleased to see the great change for the better in his condition. He expects to resume his work at the Mitchell mine, as engineer, as soon as the mill is completed, which is looked for about the first of next month.

Geo. W. Horn was down from Pioneer district early this week, for the purpose of selling more stock in the Iron Mining Company, near the Defender, and thereby secure the whereabouts to continue the tunneling operations to tap the ledge at a depth of 60 feet below the surface working. He left for the mine again Monday morning. The stock is offered at 10 cents per share, and in two months he expects to strike the ore body within the Horn boundaries. It is held to be in the estimation of all who are acquainted with the history of the mine, one of the best prospects for a mine in the upper part of the country.

The concert given last Saturday evening in Love's hall by Mrs. Walter Chamberlain and her pupils was fairly attended. The program consisted of a number of well executed pieces by Mrs. Chamberlain, who fully maintained her reputation as an expert pianist and musician. The pupils who took part were Miss Kreichbaum with a vocal solo, Miss Gordon of Ione, Miss Queenie Oulds, Miss Frennie Matson with instrumental pieces. The pupils displayed a remarkable degree of proficiency, considering the short time they have been under the tuition of Mrs. Chamberlain.

F. L. Stewart, present assemblyman from Amador county, came up from San Francisco on Tuesday's train, remaining in Ione that night. On Wednesday morning he came on to Jackson, and intends settling down to the practice of his profession here. He has been delayed in San Francisco for a couple of weeks in settling up an important estate in probate. He has secured an office in the Marella building, on Court street. We are pleased to announce this accession to the legal fraternity of the county seat. He is young, capable, attentive, and a man of unswerving integrity, and will no doubt command a fair share of business in his chosen profession.

C. W. Cowles of McGregor, Iowa, also A. Fleming of Chicago, arrived in Jackson last week. They are interested in the Moore mine, each owning a one-fourth interest in that property. The other half is owned by Senator J. P. Jones and W. A. Nevills, who also have a one-fourth interest each. Messrs. Cowles and Fleming came all the way from the east to attend the sale of the Moore mine, under an execution issued on a judgment obtained by H. F. Williams vs. W. A. Nevills and others. The amount of the judgment and costs is something over $3000. The Moore mine is not an incorporated company, but a private partnership, and the sale of the property by this suit dissolves the partnership and gets the mine in a shape that it can be operated. Under the partnership arrangement the property has been idle for fifteen years, owing to disagreements between the partners. It is hoped that the sale will lead to the resumption of work on this mine.

F. G. Head, who has figure-headed the Jackson Herald since the date of its birth, has shaken the dust of Amador county from his feet. He departed Tuesday morning for Sacramento, having disposed of whatever interest he had in his newspaper infant to Mr. Jones, who has been employed as compositor in the office for the past six weeks. The valiant "Col." according to his own story, is the champion newspaper starter of the country. It is very probable that such a claim, even if true, does not amount to a great deal in the way of recommendation. However, no one in Amador county will dream of disputing the championship honors with him in this particular line. He has been connected with four newspapers during his brief career in this county. Alas! his genial countenance and pleasant voice will be with us no more. The only consolation we have in our affliction is that he has left "Wild Bill" behind. "Wild Bill" is with us still.

THE MOORE MINE SOLD

$70,250 the Price of This Famous Property.

Sold Under a Judgment of the Superior Court of Calaveras County. Knocked Down to A. Frankl.

The sale of the Moore mine under a judgment obtained in the superior court of Calaveras county took place in front of the court house in Jackson on Wednesday last at noon. J. B. Luddy, the referee, was the auctioneer. The sale attracted much notice, not merely on account of the mine itself, but because of the prominence of the parties in interest. For fully 15 years the property has been idle. It was then equipped with a ten stamp mill in running order, and fairly good hoisting machinery. During its long inactivity both mill and hoist, and the shaft also in a great measure, have become practically useless. The claim is one mile south of Jackson. Its development into a paying proposition would mean more for the development and prosperity of the town than anything that we know of in that line. That it has not been worked, is supposed to be owing more to the disagreement among the partners than anything else. It is owned by four parties, having equal interests. These were divided into two antagonistic camps. W. A. Nevills and Senator J. P. Jones on the one side, and C. W. Cowles and W. Fleming, the eastern owners, on the other side. Messrs. Cowles and Fleming came out from the east a week ago, to attend this sale. On Tuesday last, W. A. Nevills also appeared on the scene to represent his own interests, and the same day A. Frankl from San Francisco, arrived in Jackson. He is supposed to represent W. A. Nevills in the matter. When the hour appointed for the sale arrived there was a crowd of about 100 persons in front of the court house, including all the parties in interest, either in person or by representative. Before the bidding commenced all bidders were required by the auctioneer to put up a check of 10 percent of the amount bid as an evidence of good faith. It was thought that the property would be run up to over $50,000, but very few were inclined to believe that it would go much above those figures. A bid of $10,000 was given as a starter. In seven bids this was run up to $20,000. At this point, Frankl on the one hand and C. W. Cowles and W. Fleming on the other, ran the price up to $250, $500, and occasionally $1000 at a jump, until it reached the sum of $70,250, at which sum it was finally knocked down to A. Frankl.

When it was all over, considerable speculation was indulged in as to who the successful bidder represented. Which faction in this long drawn out rivalry of partners had gained the mastery. It is the general opinion that the purchase is in the joint interest of Senator Jones and W. A. Nevills. Between these two partners there has been no particular antagonism. The sale has to be confirmed by the superior court of Calaveras county. It is thought that the dissolution of the private partnership in this property will lead ere long to the resumption of work on this mine by well-known managers, who are thoroughly conversant with the conditions existing along the main belt of this country.

BIG MINING SUIT.

W. A. Nevills Sues Fleming and Others for $150,000.

A complaint was filed in the superior court Thursday wherein W. A. Nevills and John P. Jones demand from Wm. Fleming, D. C. Nichols, Jane Doe Borland, C. W. Cowles and others, the sum of $150,000, for failure to comply with an agreement in relation to the Amador Tunnel Mill and Mining Company, and the Hamilton Gold Mining Company, both incorporated companies, located at Middle Bar in this county. The complaint sets forth that on the 29th day of April, 1885, plaintiffs were joint owners of more than one half of the entire capital stock of both corporations; that at that time plaintiffs and defendants entered into an agreement whereby defendants agreed to buy from the plaintiffs one-half of the capital stock for the sum of $250,000 as follows: $100,000 to be paid at the time of signing said agreement, and the balance out of working of and the profits of the said mine. This stock was placed in the hands of a third party, and not to be delivered until the whole of the purchase price was paid. That John and William Fleming, D. C. Nichols, paid on account the said purchase price of $100,000. On information and belief, the complaint alleges, that one half of the shares were placed in the names of John Fleming, William Fleming and D. C. Nichols, and placed in escrow with the third party, and said certificates are now in possession of Abraham Halsey; that the above named plaintiffs had by the terms of agreement the right to the said stock as though they were the actual owners. John Fleming has since died, and Wm. Fleming has become the owner of the stock held by him; that Jane Doe Borland has acquired the stock formerly held by D. C. Nichols. William Fleming has not been in California for 16 years, except on two occasions on a temporary visit; that C. W. Cowles individually and as executor, claims some dividend, without right. That after the making of the agreement, said defendants refused to carry out the contract in whole or in part, and fraudulently prevented the fulfillment of said contract of $150,000 and the working and development of the mines. It was mutually understood that possession by the escrow of this stock should be possession of the plaintiffs as owner until such time as the purchasers should have paid the full sum of $250,000. Judgment is therefore asked for, $150,000 from Wm. Fleming, D. C. Nichols and J. D. Borland, and interest at 7 percent. That said judgment be a lien for the amount upon all shares of stock; that the stock be sold, and the proceeds thereof used to satisfy the debt, and for an attorney's fee of $5,000.

John P. Davis, and Caminetti and Bole of Jackson, and Rordan & Land of San Francisco, are attorneys for the plaintiffs. The papers were served on the defendants Fleming and Cowles in Jackson yesterday morning, as they were about to depart on their homeward journey to the eastern states.

A MEMORIAL CUP.

To the Founder of the N. D. G. W., Mrs. Lily O. Reichling Dyer.

During the closing hours of the grand parlor, says the San Francisco Chronicle of the 10th, the delegates present availed themselves of the opportunity for an expression of the deep regard in which the founder of the order is held by the present members. Mrs. Lily O. Reichling Dyer not only started the influential order but is universally credited with having been the principal factor in its upbuilding and rapid growth, and yesterday morning she was presented with a handsome silver loving cup. Grand president Keith, in presenting it, said it would indicate either that the vein is widening or changing its course. At the 1400 level the ore body is rapidly improving. In fact, the quartz met with at this depth is valued at from $10 to $15 per ton. All indications warrant the conclusion that the Bunker Hill will develop into one of the most liberal gold producers of the country.

KENNEDY—The contract for the erection of the new mill between the east shaft and the old works, was let last Monday to the Fulton Iron Works of San Francisco. Twenty stamps will be finished to start with, and the mill capacity increased to 60 later on, as the underground developments demand. The ore body is of immense size, over 100 feet wide in the lowest level. Taken altogether, it is a low grade proposition. The average will not much exceed $5 per ton, but with this character of rock a handsome profit can be made with 100 stamps in motion. It is estimated that with this number of stamps, there is ore enough blocked out to run for 16 years. The running expenses of the mine have averaged about $25,000 per month for several years, almost from the starting of the east shaft, and this outlay has been met by the output of the mine, without calling upon the stockholders for assessments. A contract was also let last Monday for the erection of the new hoist over the east shaft. The Allis Chalmers Co. of Chicago were the successful bidders. This hoist will eclipse anything of the kind now in the county, capable of extending the works to the depth of 5000 feet. The contractors are under obligation to have the machinery in running order in 120 days from the signing of the contract.

GWYN—This company has just declared a dividend of 15 cents per share for the month of June.

GENERAL—The Central Eureka has resumed the payment of dividends. A dividend of 8 cents per share was paid last month, the first since the addition to the mill was started. Regular monthly dividends are looked for hereafter.

The Mahoney at Sutter Creek was closed down early this week. The cause of the shut down is said to be the low grade of the ore.

The Imperial quartz mine, located on the south side of Sutter Creek, nearly opposite the Ballou mine, has been started up. Machinery for a ten stamp mill is being hauled from Ione to the ground, one load having been delivered in the early part of the week. There

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver troubles, nervous prostration and general debility; but "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Who is suffering from headache, backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed by D. E. Spagnoli.
